Just an old not so good multiplayer FPS.. I can make you a better game with Scratch in one hour.. Great Single play game ! And Even Better Multi Play !!!

Just Check Out the guide to get multi play going. Got Pilot Edition free as part of a package. The Final Approach game is really fun, but the Pilot Edition made me really sick. I haven't played it since.. A really cool concept, but I feel it misses its mark. A casual clickfest that is very short and has little replayability, but it was still fun for me.

Good Game :D. Cool.

Needs some more options and explanation.

Perhaps some shareable "runs". ie sequences of parameter adjustments and movements in a file for playback.. This game is very simple and yet incredibly complex. It is an immensely satisfying gaming experience. The community is helpful and fun, and more new users are joining every day. Give it a try!. One of the mus fun rail-shooters out there and fun with anime girls!. This is a great game, with amazing gameplay, but it takes a long time to find a match. A real hidden gem, it deserves more recognition!. The idea of a soccer (or football for the non Americans lol) management MMO sounded really good on the surface. FM has as online career mode, but I feel the way FM is set up, that the mode works better if you have a friend or two and you guys play while chatting on SKype or Discord. I don't consider myself an expert on tactics and player ratings, but I do feel I have picked up enough in my time playing the FM series to have a decent enough grasp on them, so the fact that the game doesn't throw your tiny starter team into a league with giants (like a real life Madrid or Man City) was a bonus. The ability to create your own club is great. My issue is that, at this stage at least, the game is rather bare bones. The interface is about as minimal as you can get, and while I know the game is in early dev, the text based style feels like something you could have gotten a decade ago and have the exact same look. There are few options to change graphics, so you are essentially stuck with what they give you. The game does have a guide, which is absolutely needed for learning how the game functions, especially in the early going. The isue is that acessing the guide isn't easy. The devs also state that there is no in game pay to win system, and that appears true on the surface as there is no way to buy extra funds or pay for shortcuts or training boosts. However, the devs have a Patreon page set up that allows those who sub to the page to get insite into each update (which are usually monthly) before they are released and voice their opinions into the direction of production, thereby influencing the future of the game. They also have an unusual way of policing their in game communication between players. There are some mods in the chat, which helps, but they rely on a blacklist system for most of their policing. That would be fine, but if enough people blacklist you, then you are banned. The ability for a group power dynamic is way too high for that to be used. There is potential here, especially if the team can learn to be UK centric, but at this stage you are better off sticking with FM or something similar.. 9772777777
